✔ Social impact finance

- Explore the ways in which finance can catalyze positive social change. We invite studies that investigate the effectiveness, measurements, and long-term impacts of financial instruments designed to generate social as well as economic benefits.

✔ Ethical finance

- Analyze financial practices that adhere to ethical and moral principles. We are interested in research that discusses how ethics influence investment and financing decisions and how this can be aligned with the needs of different stakeholders.

✔ Asset management and infrastructures in conventional and islamic finance

- Compare and contrast asset management strategies and infrastructures in conventional and Islamic financial systems. We invite papers that examine innovation, challenges and opportunities in both contexts.

✔ New technologies for Islamic financial management

- Investigate how new technologies are shaping Islamic financial management. Research on blockchain, fintech, and other digital tools that are transforming financial services in accordance with Shari'ah is welcome.

✔ ESG finance and reporting tools

- Discuss the importance and implementation of financial tools that incorporate environmental, social, and governance (ESG) factors. We invite contributions that assess the impact of such tools on financial performance, sustainable development and reporting.
